DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the expression "reach" on page 7, line 10 appears to be a misspelling..

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "NaOCl" in line 5. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "Mn precipitate" in line 9. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 5 recites the limitation "the oxidative agent " in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim; also the meaning of the formula $L/(L \cdot \min)$ is unclear.

Claims 4 and 6 recite the limitation "oxidative precipitation process " in lines 2 and 3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Japanese patent No.2002-241856 in view of Brix (US 2,822,243). The Japanese patent discloses removing manganese from a solution containing manganese and cobalt but does not disclose adding sodium hypochlorite to effect precipitation of manganese (see Abstract) but Brix discloses introducing sodium hydroxide and sodium hypochlorite to precipitate manganese oxide, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to remove manganese from the Japanese solution by introducing sodium hydroxide and sodium hypochlorite since the Japanese patent discloses that manganese can also be precipitated.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Japanese patent No.JP 357140838A in view of Brix (US 2,822,243). The Japanese patent discloses removing manganese from a solution containing manganese and cobalt but does not disclose adding sodium hypochlorite to effect precipitation of manganese (see Abstract) but Brix discloses introducing sodium hydroxide and sodium hypochlorite to precipitate manganese oxide, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to remove manganese from the Japanese solution by introducing sodium hydroxide and sodium hypochlorite since the Japanese patent discloses that manganese can also be precipitated.
